

Accountability and Disclosure Commission. It's a way of dealing with the sticky question of what do you do on 15-second radio ads? Most radio and TV stations, as a matter of public policy, require this information anyway so it's probably not that major a thing.

SPEAKER BARRETT: Any discussion? If not, those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. Please record.

CLERK: 26 ayes, 0 nays on adoption of Senator Withem's amendment to the committee amendments.

SPEAKER BARRETT: The amendment to the amendment is adopted. Senator Baack, would you care to handle the committee amendments?

SENATOR BAACK: The committee amendments? Okay, we're on...oh, the committee amendments simply require the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission to exempt from the printed disclaimer on windshield stickers, yard signs, bumper stickers, campaign buttons and balloons. That's all it does. It makes it a requirement, not simply the authority to do that. They are required to do that.

SPEAKER BARRETT: For purposes of discussion, Senator Wehrbein.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Mr. Speaker and members of the Legislature, I would like to ask Senator Withem a question.

SPEAKER BARRETT: Would you respond, Senator Withem?

SENATOR WITHEM: Certainly.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: It pertains to your amendment. I missed it, but I guess it's clarification. In other words, if that...on the radio and television advertising, you could then call the station and ask who paid for that. That would be the (interruption).

SENATOR WITHEM: Right.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: And with one of the short 15-seconds, if they didn't run it, you could find out who paid for it. And also then if...a station probably will require that anyway even though it may not be required by law, is what you are saying also.
